President's Column--Paul Mitchell

Summer has finally arrived, bringing with it humidity and thunderstorms and BASEBALL!!! The Indians are playing pretty well this season, although I wonder (I may be committing heresy for saying this) if they're not a little inconsistent this season. Time will tell. All I know is that I got tickets for one game and I'm very pleased.

Another exciting thing about summer is the AALL Annual Meeting -- this year in our own chapter's borders -- Indianapolis. If you haven't been to Indy before, let me assure you that there is much more to do than go to the racetrack. If you have been, you know that Indy is a very pleasant, friendly and clean city, with a welcoming atmosphere. The meeting should be a great opportunity to see old friends, make new acquaintances, and reestablish our commitments to the profession.

Following are some summertime ramblings -- some important, some thought-provoking, some might be just provoking!

Food for Thought

Al Podboy sent to me Bob Berring's editorial in the latest issue of Legal Reference Services Quarterly (vol. 15 #1). The article is very interesting. He takes a somber look at the profession, seeing it... declining, and in a way accuses librarians of allowing it to happen, by committing themselves to service at no (or very little) cost, in an age when information has become increasingly commoditized (if that is a word).

He likens the value of information to the value of oil deposits -- that oil was more a nuisance until internal combustion engines were developed. Berring goes on to say that the information is so valuable now that prospectors are seeking it out -- but they don't associate the librarians with the value of the information -- rather, we have allowed ourselves to be bearers of the free, open access standard.

It is apparent that Berring is concerned about the profession. It points out that the profession is in a tough place right now -- more in danger than ever before of becoming extinct, or even quaint.

If you get a chance, read the article. It provides some food for thought.

AALL Meeting

The AALL Annual Meeting is fast approaching. By the time you receive this newsletter, there will be less than one month before we go to Indianapolis. The theme "Delivering the Message" promises several programs of interest; the meeting reflects the hard work of the AALL Education Committee.

Time Zone alert: Indiana does NOT go on Daylight Savings Time -- so they are one hour BEHIND Ohio, Kentucky and Michigan. Remember to set your watches back one hour when you get to the Hoosier State.

Don't forget about some great events! First, the ORALL/MichALL Breakfast is on Monday, July 22 at 7:00. Be sure to come, so you can greet your local colleagues. Contact Deb Ward at Hancock County Law Library, (419) 424-7077, if you have not registered. There may be some available spaces.

Second, the Northeast Regional Meeting planning committee is hosting a reception for the members of all chapters participating in that meeting. That will be Monday night from 5 to 7 pm. Watch your Convention newsletter for specific location.

That reception will be over just in time for the West Law Library Decathlon! Plan to attend and root on to VICTORY the ORALL Magic as they compete for a cash prize, to be donated to a charity of our choice.

Finally, let me put in a plug for the Business Meetings. This is your opportunity to let your voice be heard by the National officers. Are you pleased with the dues situation? Tell them. How do you feel about the National Strategic Plan? Let them know here! This is your once-a-year chance to have an active role in the workings of the association. Plan to attend.

Northeast Regional Meeting

By now you all should have received your registration packet for the Toronto meeting. The dates, once again, are October 17 to 20. Please register early. The committee has worked extremely hard to make this meeting successful, and several from our own chapter have contributed tremendously to the program and publicity. Try to attend, if you can. Toronto is a beautiful, progressive, cosmopolitan city.

A couple of reminders: First, remember that all funds listed are in Canadian dollars. I spoke with Kathie Sullivan regarding paying. She said that when you are sending in your check, determine the exchange rate and calculate the amount due. Right now, the exchange rate is between 25 and 30 percent, so your registration should be somewhere between $130 and $150 (U.S.). Consider enclosing your hotel registration card in an envelope, for security reasons, especially if you are using a credit card to reserve your room.

Finally, as you noticed, the program descriptions were not included in the registration materials. These descriptions were over 10 pages in length, and it was decided to post them on chapter or region listservs. ORALL does not have a listserv (yet). On the other hand, each member of the Executive Board has a copy. I can e-mail to you the description. Please contact me.

Grants and Scholarships

If you are hesitant to attend the professional meetings because of cost, do not despair. ORALL has a long-standing tradition of offering scholarships and grants to our members. We also have a long-standing tradition of receiving very few, if any, applications, and the funds go begging. The chapter offers scholarships for both AALL and the ORALL meeting, so consider applying for either. Please contact me for more information. Or, contact Kathy Carrick at Case Western Reserve Law Library for an application.

Decency in Communications

Last month, I offered my opinions on the Decency in Communications Act. I hope that my comments did not offend; rather, my intent was that each person would identify her or his position on the issue.

I do have a couple of thoughts to follow it up, though -- they concern e-mail. Many of us read law-lib, as well as a host of other listservs. Many of our employers have installed e-mail systems within our organizations. It has never been easier for so many people to see someone’s thoughts so quickly -- it has never been easier to be misunderstood, either.

For those of you who do read law-lib, recently there was some discussion about academics vs. firm librarians, and their intellectual contributions, etc. One person’s remarks were taken out of context, and what ensued was some very civilized apologies and explanations of viewpoints. Contrast that with other comments that have come across the Net, purposely (or seemingly) intending to provoke a heated response.

The hardest part about communicating words electronically is that there is no one to see our faces, or hear the words in our minds, as we type them into our computers. Let’s all be careful to consider the other person when we send a message. Let’s all remember, too, that e-mail can be sent far beyond the scope of its originally intended destination. It’s kind of like the old shampoo commercial -- "I told two friends, and they told two friends, and so on, and so on...."

The key is to think about what we're saying. Recently I was reading one of the Laura Ingalls Wilder books, and Ma offered some sage advice that still rings true today:

If wisdom's ways you wisely seek,
Five things observe with care,
To whom you speak,
Of whom you speak,
And how, and when, and where.

Or, as Aretha said, "You better THINK (think), think about what you're tryin' to do to me! (Think!"

Happy Summer!!

NOTICES OF VACANCIES:

Pat Wheeler, chair of the Government Relations committee, has resigned her position for some personal reasons. If you are interested in chairing this committee, please contact Paul Mitchell at your earliest convenience. You can reach him at (216) 579-7019. Or send an e-mail to Paul.Mitchell@lexis-nexis.com

The Private Law Libraries Special Interest Section (PLL SIG) is looking for a new chair. Susan Hersch, of Hahn Loeser & Parks, has finished her term and is hoping that someone will be inclined to accept the responsibility. Feel free to contact her or Paul Mitchell for more information.

CAROL MEYER RETIRES

Carol Meyer, an active ORALL member for many years, retired March 1, 1996 as Librarian at the Cincinnati Law Library. A reception was held in her honor at the Law Library and it was well attended by clients and colleagues including some from outside the Cincinnati area. Following a buffet lunch, Carol’s many contributions were lauded in speeches and she was surprised with a portrait painted by a local artist which will be on display in the Law Library. She received other gifts as well. Congratulations Carol on a productive law library career.

ELECTRONIC TEXTBOOKS

One of the ways legal education is changing is the growth of materials in electronic format. For example, "Journal of Science and Technology Law" is published on CD-rom.

Now West Publishing Co. has announced the release of twenty casebooks and hornbooks in electronic format for use in Fall, 1996. More titles will follow in coming semesters.

These materials are designed to supplement and not replace the print versions. PREMISE software 3.0 is the operating platform for the electronic books. The electronic version offers flexibility in the way faculty members prepare for class and the way students learn. Among the features offered:

Links to the full text of cases, statutes and other material on WESTLAW

Hypertext links within the book which allow "jumping" to specific sections

"Sticky notes", highlighting, and bookmarks for custom annotation

Copy/cut and paste functionality for notes and outlines

Searchability using the same methods as on WESTLAW

"Star-paging", preserving the pagination of the print book

Students will be able to purchase the electronic books at the bookstore. West offers combination pricing for print and electronic versions. We can expect other publishers to come out with their own electronic versions. This is but of preview of the future library.

UNIVERSITY OF DAYTON LAW BUILDING UPDATE

A little over a year has passed since ground breaking took place for the new Law School/Law Library building at the University of Dayton. It is partly under roof and some of the external features such as the main entrance have been put in. The staff is looking forward to the new building since we have occupied our “temporary” quarters on the ground floor of the Roesch Library.

The Law Library staff recently enjoyed a hard-hat tour of the construction site. We have been working with the University's interior designer planning work areas and furnishings and we were able to see the office locations. The entrance to the Law Library will be on the second floor. Circulation and Reference departments will also be located on that floor. The Director's office and Technical Services offices will be on the third floor. Faculty offices and some stack areas will be on the fourth floor.

Construction on the Joseph E. Keller Hall is expected to be completed in early summer 1997.

AALL ACQUISITIONS WORKSHOP

ORALL members planning to attend the AALL meeting in Indianapolis may be interested in the Acquisitions Workshop offered on Thursday, July 25. The Workshop will deal with issues concerned with newer media. Topics to be covered include electronic sources for collection development, electronic ordering, CD-rom licensing issues, and financial management using electronic systems. Cynthia Aniano from the University of Cincinnati is one of the leaders. Separate registration and fee is required to attend this workshop.

APPLICATION FOR MEMBERSHIP IN THE OHIO REGIONAL ASSOCIATION OF LAW LIBRARIES

<td>Photocopying, scanning, faxing, audio/video taping, transmission via Internet.... Has the technology of reproduction evolved to the point where copyright, for all practical purposes, cannot be enforced? How can a law librarian balance the responsibility to uphold the law with the need to get the job done in today's environment? Do information access issues outweigh copyright concerns? How should creators and copyright holders be compensated? This program will explore the legalities and the practical considerations of copyright enforcement, with special emphasis on the ways in which new technology has exacerbated the problems. By examining the perspectives of both creators and consumers, we may achieve consensus on some partial solutions.</td>

Program Title: Law librarianship and MIS: forging mutually beneficial relationships.
Time Slot: Saturday, Oct. 19th, 10:00-11:30am & 1:30-3:00pm
Sponsor: SNELLA
Coordinator: Jonathan C. Stock
Description: This program's underlying theses is that the legal information environment in an electronic age can be run effectively only if a strong working relationship has been forged between MIS and the Law Librarian. Session I begins with a representative "incident" which illustrates how badly systems can fail (to the law librarian's detriment) when this relationship has not been firmly established. The balance of Session I sets forth, in specific terms, how this MIS/Law Librarian relationship can work by addressing three questions: WHERE ARE WE? WHERE DO WE WANT TO GO? HOW DO WE GET THERE? The first two interrogatories are answered by the librarians in the balance of Session I. The third question is answered by the MIS professionals in the "hands-on" demonstrations that constitute Session II.

NE'96 CONFERENCE - LIBRARIES WITHOUT BORDERS:
So much to see, so little time!
Submitted by Joan Rataic-Lang & Sharon Day-Feldman, (TALL members of Toronto Information & Social Tours Committee)

Toronto is full of attractions for visitors to this beautiful city. The following article covers a wide range - and hopefully provides you with a variety of options. At the closing banquet at The Royal Ontario Museum (ROM) you will see one of the finest displays of Chinese temple art in the world in the newly reopened galleries of East Asian treasures. If you are bringing children (or not!) you will want to come back to see the rest of the museum including the dinosaur exhibit and the Bat Cave. The George R. Gardiner Museum of Ceramic Art, located directly across the street and free with admission to the ROM, is magnificent in the scope and beauty of its collection. Other museums of interest are the Bata Shoe Museum, the Museum for Textiles and the Design Exchange, the Marine Museum of Upper Canada and the HMCS Haida (a W.W. II Canadian destroyer). The Art Gallery of Ontario (AGO), one of North America's largest public art museums, is home to the Henry Moore Sculpture Centre. There are also a large number of private art galleries throughout the city. If you have access to a car a visit to the McMichael Canadian Art Collection can be combined with a visit to the Kortwright Centre for Conservation. With indoor and outdoor exhibits and over 15 km. of nature trails you can take a Halloween Hike at the Kortwright Centre or just enjoy the spectacular fall colours. The McMichael gallery, located amid the picturesque Humber River Valley, features landscape paintings by the Group of Seven and native Canadian and Inuit art.

A variety of historic sites in Toronto are open to the public. Residences of interest are: Campbell House (1822); Casa Loma (1911); Colborne Lodge (1837); Gibson House (1851); the Grange (1817); MacKenzie House (1837); Montgomery's Inn (1840's); Spadina House (1866). Fort York's buildings, maps, models and guards recall the fort's heyday when it guarded Toronto in the War of 1812. At Black Creek Pioneer Village authentically clad guides reenact life as it would have been in small town Ontario in the 1840's. Holy Trinity Church (1847), next to the Eaton Centre, is one of Toronto's oldest buildings.

For a scenic walk, head south from the Marriott Hotel along Bay St. to the heart of the Canadian financial world amid an impressive array of old and new office towers. East along Front St. to Jarvis St. you will find 170 year old St. Lawrence Market, most colourful on Saturdays when the buskers are around and the Market is bustling with activity. West along Front St. you will pass the O'Keefe Centre, home of the National Ballet of Canada and the Canadian Opera Company and the Hockey Hall of Fame in the BCE Place at the corner of Front and Yonge. Next is Union Station, a grand neo-classical structure built in 1927 and across the street is the Royal York, Toronto's first large hotel. Past University Ave. you will have ample opportunities to buy your Toronto souvenirs in a number of shops. Walking past the Convention Centre you will approach two of the most visited sites in the city - the CN Tower and the Skydome. Take an elevator ride to the top of the Tower, the tallest building in the world, and see 75 miles around the city. The Skydome, home to the world champion Blue Jays, Raptors and Argonauts, is open to tours. North on University to Queen St. is Osgoode Hall, a Georgian style building and home to the Law Society of Upper Canada since 1832. East along Queen is the New City Hall, designed by Finnish architect Viljo Revell and completed in 1965. At Queen and Bay stands Old City Hall, a typically Victorian building which now houses provincial courts. You will end up only a few steps from your hotel. Take some time to go up to Queens Park to see the pink sandstone Romanesque provincial parliament building. Guided tours are available.

Other trips of interest, especially for children, include the Ontario Science Centre and the Metro Toronto Zoo. More than 4,000 animals are on exhibit in the Zoo in areas that closely re-create their natural habitats in over 6 tropical pavilions and beautiful outside trails. The Science Centre houses over 650 hands-on displays and live demonstrations.

For the sports enthusiast Toronto is home to professional baseball, basketball, hockey and football. For the baseball fan a visit to the Skydome is a must. For the hockey enthusiast (or anyone!) it's the Hockey Hall of Fame where you can revisit great moments of hockey, see a full-scale reproduction of a professional dressing room, test your knowledge and skills on and off the ice and see the Stanley Cup. A visit to Woodbine Racetrack will satisfy the punters among you.

Whether your interest is historical, sensational, environmental, artistic, family oriented or sports minded Toronto has something for you!
No one else can show you this kind of support.

Meet your LEXIS®-NEXIS® Law Librarian Support Group. People who can help you manage information better.

From training development to applications support, no online source does more than the LEXIS-NEXIS Services to help law firm and accounting firm librarians manage information more effectively.

Only LEXIS-NEXIS maintains a full-time staff dedicated solely to the needs of law firm and accounting firm librarians. Staff members have master's degrees in library science and are experienced law librarians themselves, bringing to your needs an acute understanding of the research demands you encounter and the resources available to help you find more efficient ways of delivering critical information in a timely and accurate manner.

At AALL, we invite you to meet the human side of the industry's leading information management support system.

CINCINNATI LAW LIBRARIAN CAROL MEYER RETIRES
submitted by Joanne Beal, Dayton Law Library Association/ORALL Vice President/President-Elect

When people talk about an event that marks the "end of an era" they generally refer to an occasion that for some reason brings a nostalgic sense of closure to a period of time that already seems reminiscent. It was just that way for me on Friday, March 1, 1996, a day set aside at the Hamilton County Courthouse to celebrate the twenty-eight years of service Carol Meyer provided to the legal community as the Director of the Cincinnati Law Library Association.

Returning to that Courthouse after nearly twenty years' absence the memories of my brief time in Cincinnati became quite vivid - some good, most very good. A little uneasy about not wanting to appear emotional or shaken, I was glad to be holding onto a bouquet of flowers I had brought to Carol. I could have held onto them for hours as the Law Library was already strewn, with presentation bouquets, vases, and baskets filled with bright, spring flowers which had been delivered to Carol. It was a beautiful, happy sight. There was Carol, still helping patrons just moments before her retirement program was to begin.

Carol's "Ya'll come!" attitude was the hallmark of her years as Library Director. I learned early on as a law firm librarian in the city that Carol possessed a wealth of information about law books and legal bibliography. I'd call her with an obscure question and she'd quickly recall a relevant title and, very nearly, its exact location in those cavernous stacks. "Come on over and we'll have a look and, by the way, join us for lunch. It's so-and-so's birthday and I'm buying the staff lunch." In the warmth of those little luncheon meetings marvelous stories were told of "real" librarianship, the old-fashioned way, toe-to-toe with your patron in the middle of the reading room and often in the midst of a thunderstorm. For the true listener, much was to be gained.

Carol's official vitae has been well-documented. She earned a B.A.E. from the University of Florida in 1964, and her M.S.L.S. from the University of Illinois in 1965. She was employed by the Public Library of Cincinnati and Hamilton County from 1966 - 1968 and in 1968 Carol accepted the Law Library position before ever seeing the facility. At that time the Library had no restroom facility for women because most of the patrons were male attorneys and the Library was forced to close at noon during the summer as the temperature in the not yet air conditioned reading room often reached 100 degrees in the afternoon.

Throughout the years Carol's "patrons first and foremost" attitude generated a huge increase in the Association's membership and her user-friendly approach to library use certainly dispelled any notions of a "quiet please" or "don't touch" type of facility.

ORALL too benefited from Carol's outgoing nature. The first meeting I attended was in May of 1972 and Carol was President. It was held in a private dining room in the Terrace Hilton. The primary focus of the meeting was how to increase membership as there were only about 80 dues paying members at that time. Carol immediately set upon a one-woman crusade to spread the ORALL word. By telephone, by letter, and by personal visits to county courthouses her efforts significantly advanced a membership that now totals over 300.

Her ORALL contemporaries at that time were Art Fiske, Art Hohmeyer, Gertrude Johnson, Virginia Engle, Margaret Petz, Ellen Wheeler, Frank Payne, Bethany Ochal, the Ohio State crowd of Ervin Pollack, Matt Dee, Nancy Miller, and Ruth Kessler, and two of my former employers Simon Goren and Betty Busch.

Nationally, Carol was a regular speaker at the annual meetings of AALL and served on numerous committees. She served as Chair of the State, Court and County Law Libraries Special Interest Section from 1983 - 84 and was an early pioneer of AALL's "mentoring" idea. One of the fondest memories I share with Carol is her preparation of me for the 1975 convention in Los Angeles, my first and, to date, favorite.

Carol's career spanned an exciting time in information management. From the "explosion" of print materials in the 1970's to the "implosion" due to electronic access in the 1990's Carol's credo never changed, "Whatever the lawyers want, we'll have." There were of course crosses to bear. Carol withstood the concerns of an unfortunate rare book theft and the upsets of the inevitable disgruntled users. These problems have a minimal effect on the sum total of the benefits received from Carol's work throughout her 28 years of service.

If Carol's retirement does indeed mark the end of the "personal touch" era, let's hope that some of her "old time religion" of user-friendly service remains with us all. Best of luck, Carol. ORALL extends it's very warmest wishes for many, many enjoyable retirement years.

PLACEMENT COMMITTEE ANNOUNCEMENT

In an effort to rejuvenate the files of the Placement Committee, please begin sending any job notices to the Chair of the Committee, Anne Abate. We would like to help the members of ORALL to find jobs and to fill jobs as a priority, but we will also take notices from outside the region. As soon as there is a file, we will be able to recommend that you refer job seekers to the Committee Chair. The Committee will also communicate with other regional associations to gather more job listings. We would also like your suggestions for anything else the Committee could be doing in the efforts of placement. Please send any comments to the Chair, Anne Abate, through e-mail at abate@tsa.cin.ix.net. Job notices may be sent through e-mail or to Anne K. Abate, Dinsmore & Shohl, 255 East Fifth Street Cincinnati, OH 45202-3172.
